Orthene, a tobacco insect spray, has label clearance for tobacco this year. This material is recommended for control of the following insects on tobacco: budworm, green peach aphid, hornworm, cabbage looper, and flea beetle.

We had this material in one demonstration last year and didn't get the response expected. Company representatives said that the rate was under recommended amounts. This material is worth a try this year.

* * *

It's time to start looking for budworms in tobacco--it's about time for the first brood.

* * *

Now's the time to renovate the strawberry patch. I like to remove the old tops with a rotary lawn mower. Then re-move grass and weeds--spray with DAxthal--apply one pound of 34% Nitrogen per 100 feet of row and irrigate.

* * *

I saw my first 1974 Japanese beetle on June 6. Better get the sevin ready; they will be out in mass in a few weeks.

* * *

Fungicide use in the garden is important--particularly for tomatoes--po t o e s--egg-plant and Cucurbits.

Bravo would be my first choice for tomatoes and potatoes. Maneb would be second choice.

For Cucubits, Maneb would be first choice. Don't use Maneb on any crop within five days of harvest.

The Virginia Tech entomology department has asked for help in establishing records of stink bugs in Virginia. So we need your help. There are a number of species. If you would put-up one of each species found in a bottle and provide the following: date collected, county, and the name of the person who collected the insect.

Face flies are more numerous than ever. There are three materials that will probably give equal response--Co-RAL, Rabon, and Ciodrin. Dust bags appear to be the most effective method of application. These bags must be located in such a manner that cattle are forced to use them. This isn't an easy insect to control.

Bulls for the Red House Bull Evaluation Center must be consigned by August 2 for Senior Bulls and September 3 for Junior bulls.

Senior bulls have a birth date between September 1 December 31, 1973, and junior bulls December 1, 1973 - March 10, 1974.

We'll be glad to assist you with entering your animals.

Have you taken a look at the shade trees growing in your yard lately? If they are like many shade trees, they need to be fertilized.

The preferred time to fertilize is after the leaves fall and on up to July 15. Use a 10-6-4 fertilizer at the rate of two pounds for each inch of diameter of the trunk when measured three feet above the ground.

Holes should be bored in the soil eight to ten inches deep and filled with fertilizer.

Details of shade tree fertilization are available from this office.

Local FHA Members Receive State Degrees

The State Homemakers Degree is the highest degree of achievement that a Future Homemaker of America member can receive. EAch year the Virginia Association, Future Homemakers of America awards the State Homemakers Degree to FHA members who have demonstrated their growth in ability to participate in an outstanding way in community, school, and home activities, which contributes to better family living.

FHA Receives Outstanding Chapter Award

The Appomattox Senior Chapter, Future Homemakers of America has received notification from Mrs. Jean H. Goad, Assistant State Supervisor, Home Economics Education that they are the recipients of the outstanding chapter award for the 1973-74 school year.

Each year the Virginia Association, Future Homemakers of America, recognizes outstanding chapters in the state. These are the chapters which have demonstrated, through their activities and accomplishments, growth of individual members in family living as related to a program that was of Concerns to them and their chapter.

Picture above is Kay Stratton, president of the high school FHA chapter who accepted the award on behalf of the chapter members. Kay was also presented an award for Outstanding Home Economics Student from the 1973-74 Senior Class. This award was presented as recognition for her superior work as a student in home economics and for leadership abilities in the Future Homemaker organization. Kay is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Stratton of Route 4, Appomattox.
